American Business Booming. Snyder Tells Bank Heads

Secretary of Treasury Is Not Upset at Strike Picture: Expects Expansion

San Francisco, Nov. 1.—American business "is having another tremendous year in 1950," Secretary of the Treasury Snyder told the American Bankers Association convention today.

The cabinet officer, addressing the first general session, professed no fear of the coal and steel strike clouds in the economic sky. "I shall not attempt to forecast the duration of current work stoppages, which, in any event, can dominate the business picture only temporarily," Snyder continued.

"Serious as they appear today, when they are finally settled, the underlying forces will again come into full play, and production will be expanded to build up depleted stocks," Snyder said.

Snyder said pessimistic predictions that the nation could not return to "conditions of abundant supply without severe dislocations of the economy have proven unfounded."

The secretary conceded that certain industries "identify themselves with the adjustment process more severely than others, adding:

"On the broader front of the national economy, however, I have become increasingly apparent as the great wheel turns forward that the basic factors making for our continued growth and progress have been far stronger than the forces tending to pull us back."

Snyder made no reference to an earlier address before the convention in which a New York banker said the soundness of the dollar is endangered by government fiscal policies.

W. Randolph Burgess of New York told the association's national banking division yesterday that the government "is violating the most sacred principle of sound money—a balanced budget."

Burgess, chairman of the executive committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, said:

"The boy, 11, rescued from creek; was pushed by youth"

Roland Osterhout, 11 of 110 Broadway, was rescued from the Rondout creek at the foot of Canal street late yesterday afternoon after he had been pushed into the water by an unknown boy, according to the police.

The boy was taken from the creek by Roger Bryan Clark, 8, and four friends, 9, of the Edgewater Hotel Canal street, before police and firemen arrived on an emergency call.

Police were notified at 4:25 p. m. and Officers Peter Camp, Thomas McGee and James Burns were dispatched to the scene. The fire department dispatched Ladder 2 and Truck 1, with ladders and emergency equipment with Deputy Fire Chief James Brett in charge, and emergency equipment from Cornell station with Capt. Joseph Hurlman in charge.

It was learned that young Osterhout had been pushed into the creek by a boy who was wearing a woolen cap and sheepskin coat and the police continued their efforts today to learn further details.

Downtown Recreation Center (An Editorial)

The current political campaign here has been a very quiet one. This is due to the fact that the Newkirk administration has proved an efficient, courageous and progressive one and the people generally do not feel inclined to risk a change in administration by electing an untried man to fill the important office.

Every community is a better place to live in by the use of a building, where meetings, dances, parties and athletic contests may be held providing wholesome recreation for old and young.

The City of Kingston for several years has maintained the Downtown Recreation Center at 83 Broadway. Under Mayor Newkirk's leadership and insistence during his one term this building was completely renovated. A new heating system was installed so that the building would be warm and comfortable in the winter. The gymnasium floor had sunk, and a new floor was constructed. New tile floors were placed in the rest rooms. A very great improvement in the structure too was the installation of shower rooms for boys on the ground floor and for girls on the second floor.

Prior to 1949 the upstairs of the building had been used as a place where the children could come and go, but was devoted to no particular use. As part of the improvements made, the upstairs floor was partitioned off and equipped to handle three different groups at one time and equipment in the form of mats, bowling alley, checkers, ping pong and other games were provided to cater to the children of all age groups.

Prior to 1949 it was necessary to restrict certain age levels and sexes on different nights but upon the completion of the renovations in 1949 the Center was thrown open to children of all ages and sexes every night. Under the Newkirk administration too for the first time the building was allowed to remain open two nights a week from nine to 11 o'clock so that adults might participate in physical games such as volleyball and basketball.

Mayor Newkirk took it upon himself to equip the Recreation Center in the most up to date fashion possible at no expense to the taxpayers. Included in the donations were classroom materials, chairs, sofas, reading room materials, radios and a juke box. In the spring of 1949 Mayor Newkirk set out to secure a motion picture projector for the Center. Through his efforts, the local Lions Club donated this as well as other equipment.

The ladies of the Junior League and of Beta Sigma Phi are entitled to great credit by the community for aiding in the creation of programs for the youth who use the center.

Mayor Newkirk's efforts show that he is the Mayor for all the people all of the time and have resulted in a marked improvement in the facilities given to the young people of downtown for good, wholesome recreation and use of leisure time.

Mayor Newkirk's Courage Is Emphasized in Address

Mrs. Marie Schussler of 302 E. Chester street speaking under the auspices of the Women's Republican Club Monday evening, emphasized the moral courage of Mayor Newkirk in running the city government in a courageous, business-like manner. She spoke in part as follows:

"Have you wondered what you are going to do next Tuesday on Election Day? I mean you women voters who outnumber the men and who are really interested in Kingston and its problems."

None of us women voters should vote for someone because he is a friend of a friend, but we should vote only for the person who can and will do the things we want done.

We Americans are intelligent and yet sometimes we let petty things come into prominence and cloud the issues. We should be thinking clearly and should analyze the factors of government and test their soundness. We should not stoop to the childishness of name calling for that is a weakness and what we want is strength.

Voting is not merely a privilege that our government gives us but is an important duty. You know when I hear people complain about this and that about our government my first question is: "Did you vote?" No one should fail in that when he or she has done nothing to help the situation. In some countries because people do not pay enough attention to their government, minorities ties such as the Communists have taken over. We want none of that in our country.

Let's review some of the things that you and I consider important.

One of the things that women look for and expect in public officials is that they be men of good character and reputation. All of us who know Mayor Newkirk know that he is one of the best. If a candidate does not agree with the policies of the mayor, it is his privilege in this free country of ours to say so. He should, however, be able to say so, without calling the mayor a liar, a crook, a double-dealer and some of the other names that have been used in this campaign. We women do not like this business of name calling for we know it is not intelligent. What we women want is a good clean debate on the issues without a lot of name calling.

Sometimes I think that the more I hear about assessments, equalization rates and those things, the less I know about them. I will leave those subjects to those who know more about them than I do.

But every woman knows the simple arithmetic about the costs of running a home. Wages and bookkeeping in the home are things with which you and I are familiar. We have had to count pennies at times. We have had to watch prices and incomes. We were all grateful and happy when wages went up so that we could meet and pay for the rising costs. We women know how much

High Falls Man, 29, Fatally Hurt When Struck by Tree

Charles Clark Is Pinned Between Fence and Tree Butt; Dies at Hospital

Charles Clark, 29, of High Falls was fatally injured Monday afternoon when he was pinned between a stone fence and the butt of a tree on the John Atkinson property in the town of Gardiner, the sheriff's office reported.

Clark was assisting Atkinson in felling trees on the latter's lot on the road between Tuttleton and Bruynswick when the accident occurred shortly after noon, Leonard Belmont, county identification officer, learned after investigation.

The two men had just saved through a large tree with a chain saw and when the top of the tree hit the ground, the butt bounced up and pinned Clark between it and the wall Belmont said.

As the incident was related to Belmont by Atkinson, Clark called out, "John, I'm hurt."

Atkinson then started a large tractor nearby and pulled the tree from the injured man, he said, then placed Clark in an automobile and took him to the Atkinson home. Dr. Walter Rost was called and administered first aid, after which he ordered an ambulance to take Clark to Kingston Hospital.

Clark died at Kingston Hospital at 2:30 p. m. Monday, hospital authorities said.

Dr. J. Spittelswood Taylor, acting coroner in the absence of Coroner Ernest A. Kelly, said death was accidental and was caused by hemorrhage and shock due to internal abdominal injuries, Belmont said.

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—Trans World Airline announced today it would begin a $110 transcontinental sky coach service between New York and Los Angeles via Chicago on December 27, using DC-4 planes. This compares with a fare of $157.35 for the regular TWA transcontinental flights with Constellation and deluxe service.

Licenses Are Available

Hunters who have not obtained their "big game" licenses in preparation for the opening of the season on deer and bear in the Catskill mountain area November 15, are requested to do so as early as possible. The licenses are available at the city clerk's office and a last-minute rush will be avoided if the licenses are obtained reasonably in advance of the opening date, the city clerk advised.

Halloween Parade, Party Are Held at City Auditorium

Some Property Damage Is Reported; Nine False Alarms Are Rung

Kingston's annual organized Halloween parade and party noticeably reduced mischief last night, but the city was not totally without a back-street wave of pranks and slight property damage by older groups who wandered largely on their own.

Recreation Department officials reported the parade and program at the municipal auditorium the most successful in several years, and complaints to the police from early evening until midnight were less serious than in many other years.

Nine false alarms were sounded from 6:30 p. m. until 12:45 a. m. today, and the first definite indication to police headquarters that it was Halloween came as early as 3:05 p. m., when the management of Montgomery Ward & Co., complained that a "no parking" sign had been moved from near the store to a lot near the O. & W. Railroad station.

Other complaints started at 6:30 p. m., and continued through the night, but few of the pranks resulted in serious damage.

The parade, led by the Port Ewen Drum Corps in Halloween costumes instead of their regular uniforms, and the locomotive of the Forty and Eight, started at Academy Green at 6:30. It continued down Broadway to Delaware avenue where several groups from downtown areas joined the line of the parade and then returned to the auditorium.

The crowd was so large in the auditorium that the drum corps scarcely had room to stage its scheduled march in the building.

Prizes Awarded
Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk assisted Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, superintendent of the Department of Recreation in awarding the prizes which were donated by the Forty and Eight, Hugo Weiser and Montgomery Ward & Co. Murphy determined the reaction of the crowd to the various costumes of the selected contestants and the mayor awarded the prizes.

The recreation department extended its thanks to the children for their behavior. To Mayor Newkirk and to those who contributed the prizes, to the Port Ewen Drum Corps and the Forty and Eight for their volunteered assistance.

Ten different types of costumes were selected for the judging and the six winners were: Brian Bach, Regina Buckman, Nicholas Morris, Walter Brant, Gail Ann Zachwie and Penny Jenkins.

The parade and festivities at the auditorium were gay and noisy through most of the night, and the auditorium program included an hour of movies.

Police records, meanwhile, were showing results of the wanderings of groups who apparently had not joined the parade or attended the auditorium program. The first complaint at 6:30 p. m. said that children were throwing stones and breaking windows on Hushbuck avenue, and a half hour later a complaint said a group was throwing things at cars on O'Neil street and that a window of a city bus was broken.

Windows Broken

A few minutes later a street light was reported broken on Joy Lane and next morning reports of windows being broken on Highland avenue and Pine street. A telephone pole was reported placed across the road at Prince and Garden streets at 7:35 p. m., (Continued on Page 15, Col. 4)

Governor Picks Commission To Check Strike Effects

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP)—Governor Dewey today appointed an "emergency commission" to keep a day-by-day check on the effects of the coal and steel strikes on New York State.

Dewey said the impact of the strikes on the state's economy was "serious but will not be critical for another seven days."

"Unemployment is already serious," he added.

The governor indicated that settlement of the Bethlehem Steel Company strike would not for the time being at least, affect plans to keep a close watch of the state's food supply, employment, transportation and gas and electric supplies.

Dewey named Bertram D. Tallamy, state public works superintendent, to head the five-member watchdog committee of officials of the State Health and Commerce Departments and the Public Service Commission.

Dewey said the group would follow the strike situation "day by day in every community of

Collision Occurs at Washington

Eastern Airliner, Small Craft Are Wrecked Over Airport Shortly Before Noon

Owned by Bolivia

Military Plane Was Circling Airport for Landing

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP)—A big airliner, inbound from New York, and a small military plane collided in the air near the National Airport today with a heavy loss of life. At least 25 were believed killed.

Fourteen bodies were removed from the airliner within the first half hour of rescue efforts. The wrecked plane was resting partly in the Potomac river.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration said the smaller plane was a P-38 of the Bolivian Air Force, C.A.A. understood there were 49 passengers aboard the DC-4 and a crew of four. The plane was due to go on from Washington to Atlanta, with stops at Charlotte and Raleigh, N. C.

The airliner was a DC-4. Planes of this type can carry 50 or more passengers. Government officials said the Bolivian government bought two P-38 planes from the U. S. about three or four weeks ago for the Bolivian Air Force.

One was sent to Bolivia. The other has been kept here pending routine clearance.

The two planes struck while in the air. Those who saw the collision said there was an explosion on the airliner. They said there was undoubtedly a heavy loss of life.

Eastern Airlines identified the flight as number 537.

It left Boston at 9 a. m. and had stopped at New York.

It cleared LaGuardia Airport at about 10:30 and was due to land at Washington at 11:45.

The collision occurred about half a mile south of the airport over Mount Vernon Boulevard when it was on a steep climb.

O'Connell, chairman of the New York State Liquor Authority, in a statement issued today, called the attention of all retail licensees to the provisions of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law which prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages on Election Day, Tuesday, November 8, during the polling hours, 8 a. m. to 7 p. m., statewide. Chairman O'Connell stated: "In the event of a violation, disciplinary action against the offender will be instituted."

No Strike Action

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—A union official says 1,200 Safeway Food Store employees, involved in a wage dispute with management, will take no strike action for the next few days. Patrick J. Henpe, business manager of Local 474, CIO National Food Chain Store Employees Union, said yesterday that while there was now "nothing to prevent" a strike, it would take at least a "few days" to set up strike machinery. The union wants a pay raise from $80 to $84 for food clerks, $87.50 to $92.50 for journeyman meat cutters, and $92 to $97 for meat cutters.

Republican Candidates

DAVID SCHECTER

David Schechter, Republican candidate for alderman in the Sixth Ward, is a lifelong resident of that Ward. Born there in 1921, he attended Public School No. 3 and later Kingston High School from which he graduated in 1938.

In 1943 he entered military service taking his basic training at Camp Hood, Texas as a member of the Tank Destroyers. He was sent to Africa and joined the Sixth Armored Infantry Division. He went from Africa to Italy and participated in the four battles in Italy and was on the infamous Anzio beachhead for its entire duration until the breakout for Rome.

After the war he was assigned on a lecture tour acquainting soldiers, who were soon to become civilians, on government benefits to ex-G.I.s.

Upon returning from the army he went into the grocery business, which was started many years ago by the late Jack Schechter on East Union street.

Mr. Schechter is a member of Kingston Post 150, American Legion and B'nai B'rith. He is married to the former Lillian Banks and they have one son. They reside at 22 Struyvenant street.

Mr. Schechter is well qualified to represent the people of the Sixth Ward in the Common Council and the large registration in that ward this year indicates the intense interest of the citizens in his election.

Dulles Takes His Campaign Into Brooklyn Areas

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—Invading the Democratic stronghold of Brooklyn, Sen. John Foster Dulles said last night that leaders of the Truman administration have taken over the campaign of his Senate opponent, former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

The Republican senator said his Democratic-Liberal party foe has campaigned only on the issue of "bigotry."

Noting that President Truman and Vice President Barkley are working against him in Lehman's behalf, Dulles declared "Mr. Lehman has been lost in the shuffle."

Sen. Irving M. Ives, who beat Lehman for the Senate in 1946, joined Dulles in addressing 3,000 members of the Kings county Republican committee at the Hotel St. George.

Dulles said the principal issue between the Democrats and Republicans is the issue of a Democratic "welfare state" versus freedom of the individual.

He said the coal and steel strikes are the product of an effort by the Truman administration to "play politics with the American working people."

Dulles also accused the administration of playing politics with social security, civil rights, disabled persons, the national health, the country's food supply and public education.

The candidate charged the administration with "waste and extravagance—the kind of waste and extravagance that every housewife resents in terms of excessive costs for everything she buys."

Dulles said President Truman does not dare invoke the Taft-Hartley Law "because that would prove that what he said about this law was simply not true."

Urging a new labor law to replace the Taft-Hartley Act, Dulles called for one "making certain that government or management cannot rule labor through injunctions," and continuing "protective features of the present law that most of the workers want—what over their top leaders may say."

Dulles said the Truman administration "talked loudly about civil rights in 1948, but at this recent session of Congress it didn't get that talk translated in legislative action."

"The answer to that is simple enough," Dulles added. "The Democrats don't want to show up the numbers of Jim Crow legislators in their own party."

Dulles urged a liberalized displaced persons admission law, and "flexible price supports" for agriculture. He repeated his opposition to "federal subsidized education," saying it would be "sure to arouse religious ill-will."

He said that by expanding voluntary health insurance, medical care could be made more generally available "without selling medicine and our medical profession into political slavery."

Strike Threatens Water For 160,000 Persons

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—A strike tentatively set for Friday, midnight threatens the water supply of 160,000 residents in Queens.

A possible strike against the New York Water Supply Service Corporation by members of Local 369, Utility Workers' Union of America (I.U.O.), was announced by union officials yesterday.

The affected consumers are in Howard Beach, Ozone Park, Woodhaven and parts of Richmond Hill.

John P. Wynne, national representative of the union, said the company's 30 employees would strike unless the firm met demands for a wage increase of 10 cents an hour or put the issue to arbitration. The union did not state the present wage scale.

A working contract expired Oct. 1.

Day Off for Hunting
Shippensburg, Pa., Nov. 1 (AP)—Employees of the S.R.F. Corporation here took today off to go hunting and they get paid for it. The company said it was shutting down in line with a union contract agreement which makes the opening day of the small game season in Pennsylvania a paid holiday.

Woman Is Called For Second Time

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP)—House sky hunters today for the second time summoned Louise Branstetter, wealthy West coast woman, for questioning in connection with Soviet espionage activities.

Mrs. Branstetter, of San Francisco and New York, was one of four witnesses called to appear at public hearings next week before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The other witnesses were not identified. The hearings will begin Monday.

Mrs. Branstetter has appeared before the committee previously. She was questioned at a secret committee session last year when the committee was investigating Communist activities at the University of California Radiation Laboratory.

On that occasion, Mrs. Branstetter refused to answer questions on constitutional grounds. A committee witness testified in 1947 that J. Pety, identified by the committee as a Soviet agent, once received $1,500 from Mrs. Branstetter.

Dewey Urges Votes Be Given Dulles As Farmers' Man

Cliffham, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP)—Governor Dewey urges the election to the Senate of Republican candidate John Foster Dulles as a man "who will fight for the welfare of our agriculture."

Dewey also, in a speech last night, described Dulles as "the man with more skill than any other in our country to contribute toward winning the cold war by peaceful means."

Dewey addressed about 400 persons at a rally sponsored by the Columbia County Republican Committee.

Assailing again, as he had during four previous weeks of stump-ing for Dulles, the proposed Branstetter farm price support plan, Dewey said:

"Much of the prosperity of our cities from Buffalo to New York would be seriously affected if New York State agriculture were ruined by the shenanigans now proposed in Washington."

"New York State," he added, "needs a senator who will fight for the welfare of our agriculture."

Dewey spent last night at his farm near Pawling. He will speak tonight in New York city at a dinner of the "Youth United" Organization.

CONGRESS AND DEFENSE

The bitter dissension among some of the top officials of the military services, over budgets and general defense policy, has brought the suggestion that congress ought to step in and take over the task of deciding defense needs. The suggestion doubtless stems from genuine concern for the national interest, but that is exactly what Congress ought not to do. Congress, if anything, should move to cut itself clear of such decisions.

The plain fact is that Congress is not competent to determine defense needs, and that its attempts to do so only result in a kind of publication of strategies and plans, which is potentially damaging, and in possible blunders in decision. To say this is not by any means a disparagement of Congress or of its normal duties to govern public affairs. But Congress is composed of laymen, without any special skill in military planning except by coincidence.

When the assault on Europe was being planned in the recent war, Congress would not have dreamed of calling the military chiefs to explain where, when and how the assault was to be made, and of inquiring into the wisdom of the plan and possibly ordering changes in it. Probably no one in Congress then would have truly believed himself competent to pass judgment on the plans for the invasion of Europe. It would be no more reasonable for Congress now to presume itself competent to plan the military strategy of the future.

The argument which has been going on is partly over unification, but it is also partly over the strategy of future defense. The two issues should have been separated. Congress should press for achievement of real unification, and leave the planning of strategy to those who were trained to do it.

USEFUL SCOUTS

Almost a hundred communities in half a dozen states now have Boy Scout troops organized under what is known as the Stamford plan, by which a troop has a direct link with the local police department and has as a primary objective, in addition to regular scouting activities, the prevention of juvenile delinquency. Although two other similar scouting organizations preceded the one at Stamford, Connecticut, the plan is named for the Stamford troop, which is credited with a remarkable reduction in juvenile troubles in its territory.

Youngsters who become involved in damaging or criminal mischief usually do so in search for exciting activity. The Stamford plan offers an exciting activity which leads away from mischief rather than toward it. It has the further great advantage of consciously aligning youngsters on the side of the police, while mischievousness so often tends to align them against the police.

FOLLOWING THE RACES

An American amusement not generally appreciated in all circles has now received serious literary recognition. The New York Public Library announces that it has begun to collect material on horse racing.

This material will not be racing forms or records of betting odds. The new collection, presented by the Westchester Racing Association through its president, George D. Widener, gives a history of tracks and entries, jockeys, trainers and owners. It comes to the library through the discovery that nothing was available there on Belmont Park or indeed any other race track. As all human activity is regarded as within the scope of the New York Public Library, it was glad to accept the Widener gift.

Racing has its seamy side. Its relation to horse breeding should serve to some extent to redeem it. Certainly its history is within the scope of any scholarly institution of universal scope.

THE TAX DOLLAR

No matter how it is sliced, all the government has to work with is the tax dollar. If it collects $44,000,000,000 from the American people, or any other amount, that is all that it has to spend. If it spends more than that, it has to borrow the money or increase the taxes of the current taxpayers. When it borrows, it increases the taxes of present and future taxpayers.

The Constitution forbids confiscation of privately-owned property without just compensation, but that is no assurance any longer, for the constitution also permits the government to collect an income tax. One provision cancels out the other. For instance, the present income tax law permits the government to collect an income tax as high as 92 per cent. If that is not confiscation, nothing is. Yet, it is altogether legal.

When a man collects $1,000,000 as salary or even $500,000 he is just a show-off. His actual earnings are what is left after the federal and state taxes are paid and that is geared to keep his ego well within the confines of much lower collections. It hardly pays a man to show off and few can afford the luxury.

John T. Flynn, who is an authority on human stupidity, and has written a brilliant book, "The Road Ahead," to prove how skillfully the British and others have been socializing themselves until they are spiritually as well as financially impoverished, recently told me that he was lecturing some teachers who flaccidly accepted socialism as the equivalent of progress. So he posed a question: Why has the United States, over its history, spent more money on education than any other country?

It could not be that our culture is so great. After all, even at best, ours is only a rotatable branch of the glorious western European culture. Yet, no country in Europe ever spent as much on education as the United States. The European countries simply could not afford to slice their tax dollars that way, but the United States could afford to do it. In fact, in our simplicity, we used to put costs for education comparatively high.

For instance, from 1921 through 1936, this country spent $3,576,000,000 on educational institutions, which is $37,000,000 a year. Then it dropped to $123,000,000 in 1937 and reached a low figure of $14,000,000 in 1944.

The high and the low figures explain the same phenomenon: There was or there was not money for this purpose in the tax dollar.

What can be shown for building construction is true of every phase of governmental activity, federal, state and municipal. Once when I was sitting next to the late Fiorella LaGuardia, he was as nervous and irritable as a wet hen. And his police aid was back and forth with messages. Finally, being a reporter on the alert for a story, I could not restrain my curiosity and I asked him what was troubling him. "Snow," he said. "Just snow!" Each time he took a new snow machine his budgetary calculations, lost money from things he felt were more important, more permanently valuable. He explained how one blizzard might wreck his plans. I never thought of that, but obviously in a city of the size and complexity of New York, the snow has to be removed, and quickly, or the loss might be irreparable.

So the problem is what to do about the tax dollar. Spend billions on past and prosperous wars, on veterans, on farm subsidies, on education? Soon some items become fixed, like the $5,000,000,000 a year we give to Europe. That has become a habit. Farm subsidies, which came with bad times, have become a fixation for all times, good as well as bad. Each time taken in new snow ruined his budgetary calculations, lost money from things he felt were more important, more permanently valuable. He explained how one blizzard might wreck his plans. I never thought of that, but obviously in a city of the size and complexity of New York, the snow has to be removed, and quickly, or the loss might be irreparable.

It would be gloriously easy for the bureaucrat if he could tax on the basis of what he could spend. He could then lay out all his plans and confiscate all the money in sight. However, in our country, in the United Kingdom, when it no longer pays to work, we should not be enough just sit on our hands. (Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

ACQUIRING EMOTIONAL STABILITY

I have written before of our experience as medical officers in World War I, when we found so many young men unable to pass the low requirements as to size of chest. When a boy in his late teens or early twenties does not have a measurement of 34 inches with chest expanded there is something wrong. The outstanding cause of chests considered too small for service was that these boys had not played much as youngsters, often because their mothers were afraid they would get hurt.

Unfortunately unless a recruit was definitely a mental case, we made no tests as to his mental or emotional condition. The result was that many men were sent home or hospitalized because of their emotional instability. That is why in World War 2, a careful examination of the recruit's emotional stability was made. The value of this screening for emotional disturbances is shown by the fact that 25 per cent of the eighteen-year-olds not accepted for service in the armed forces, were rejected on the ground of emotional immaturity.

Dr. Thomas A. C. Rennie and Luther E. Woodward in "Mental Health in the Army," published by Commonwealth Fund, 1948, state that "Immaturity stands out as number one trouble maker in bringing about mental, emotional, and social ills. It accounts for practically all neurosis, is a major factor in mental illness, and seems to be at the root of many social problems. On the other hand, emotional maturity (being grown up and acting on one's own) is the only hope of maximal personal satisfaction, physical and mental health, social progress and enduring peace."

How can our children and we, ourselves, achieve emotional maturity? Just as the chest of boys and girls will mature if they play, so also will the boys and girls mature emotionally if they play games where they have to give and take. Also, for children and adults, mixing with others, by rubbing off abuses and other odd behavior, will make them grow up mentally and emotionally and "act our age."

Believing you have a physical ailment when none exists can be a neurosis, and is becoming increasingly common. Send today for Dr. Barton's International booklet on this subject entitled "Neurosis." To obtain it send 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing. To The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. nitogorsk steel plant has been using high grade ore from the nearby Magnetic Mountain Range, Russia's equivalent of our Mesabi Range. Now it is becoming increasingly necessary to use low grade ores and treat them. The American steel industry may face a similar problem before many years have passed.

It is quite conceivable that in a production show-down, a number of deficiencies might manifest themselves in Russian technical equipment.

Presumably it was a typographical error, but an exchange paper's headline over a story about government employment referred to the "federal payrolls."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—While certain admirals were attracting the national spotlight with broadsides of criticism on Capital Hill, another navy unit was patriotically relieving thousands of dollars for the taxpayers without attracting any attention at all.

This unspectacular nose-to-the-grindstone outfit was the Pittsburgh office of the supervising inspector of naval material. With headachies instead of headlines for a reward, this watchdog unit went through navy contracts looking for bugs. As a result, enough bugs were combed out of the navy's contract with the Canonsburg Steel and Iron Company to reverse the company's claim for $1,346,306. Instead of paying Canonsburg, the navy collected $574,157.

In another case, the admirals had glommed over purchasing $1,131,188 worth of material from the Cooper-Bessmer Corporation at the bargain scrap price of $63.251. The watchdog unit discovered, however, that this wasn't such a bargain after all. For, believe it or not, the navy had bought its own material, already paid for by the navy.

But, thanks again to the watchdog unit, Westinghouse Electric Corporation was ordered to shell out an additional $18,724 for equipment that it had bought from the navy for two per cent of the original cost. The navy unit also cracked down on the company owned by Perle Mesta, U. S. minister to Luxembourg and famed dinner hostess to President Truman. The Mesta Machine Company had tried to charge the navy $36,000 for maintaining a navy plant, but the watchdog unit took exception to a few items, including 100 per cent overhead, and cut the bill down to $22,400.

When the Bureau of Yards and Docks tried to give away a navy building erected on the property of the National Tube Company, the watchdog unit stepped in and finally sold the building for $24,800.

In another instance, navy-owned electric furnaces and industrial equipment were lying idle. So the watchdog unit got busy and leased this equipment to the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation for $709,000.

Another company, the Elliott

Company, tried to buy a navy office building for $38,100. Just as the contract was about to be signed, the watchdog unit moved in with its inspectors and adding machines. As a result of a more careful appraisal, Elliott Company had to pay $60,725.

Note—The man in charge of the Navy unit which is doing such a good job of saving the taxpayers' money is Capt. M. C. Barrett. His chief assistants are Comdr. P. Page and J. K. Kennedy.

Truman's Waistline

Though the President jokes about his expanding waistline, actually he watches his diet carefully. The other day at lunch, Truman ate two pieces of home-cured Missouri ham—an unusually large portion of meat for him. The dessert was ice cream and chocolate cake. Looking at the cake wistfully, Truman turned timidly to Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, White House physician, and asked:

"Doc, can I have a piece of that good chocolate cake?"

"No, sir," replied Dr. Graham sternly, "you can't, Mr. President."

"That's all I wanted to hear," retorted the President as he boldly reached for a big piece of cake. "I'll see you at 5 o'clock," warned the White House physician, referring to the President's exercise period.

Truman started talking to his guest, Senator McFarland, ate a few crumbs of the delicious cake, despite his braggadocio, he took Graham's warning seriously.

Big Tax Loophole

Congressman Walter Lynch of New York bluntly informed the big life insurance companies at a closed-door session of a ways and means subcommittee last week that the gray train they have been riding for the last three years had reached the end of the line. A loophole in the tax laws, enabling the companies to escape billions of dollars of income taxes is going to be closed.

Furthermore, Lynch warned the insurance executives that they might as well quit protesting about paying up retroactive taxes.

"These obligations due the government are going to be collected one way or another—and I mean retroactively," Lynch served nolice at a closed-door meeting. "The honeymoon is over."

He offered the insurance tycoons either of two alternatives: 1. A "stopgap" bill, pending revision of the tax laws, requiring the companies to pay taxes on all above 92 per cent of their income from investments for the years 1948 and 1949. (Under a tax law formulated in 1942, tax exemptions on investment income have amounted to 100 per cent in the last three years.)

2. If the companies don't want to make retroactive payments for two years under this bill—already introduced by Ways and Means Chairman Bob Doughton of North Carolina—Lynch proposed that they pay up for all three years (1947, 1948 and 1949) under a so-called "average valuation" formula.

This would amount to an across-the-board lowering of tax deductions for all insurance firms, without regard to surpluses in reserve funds.

However, the insurance executives, led by A. J. McAndrews of Lincoln National, Fort Wayne, Ind., vigorously objected to both proposals. They were in no position to make retroactive payments of any kind, they insisted, since the money that normally would go toward the tax payoff already had been distributed as dividends.

"Well, make up your minds," replied Lynch. "You may as well realize that you can't ride free any longer."

When McAndrews protested that the life insurance firms were not prepared for such a sudden blow at their reserve funds, and that retroactive payments would endanger the stability of a number of companies, Lynch shot back:

"Why, you've been put on notice as long as two years ago, when you first discussed your exemptions with the Treasury Department. You've known all along that you would have to make good on these unpaid taxes some day. So you can't accuse the Congress of dealing with you arbitrarily."

McAndrews and colleagues finally suggested that 1947 and 1948 taxes be written off with the 1949 and 1950 taxes paid—if the taxable floor in the Doughton bill was raised from 92 to 95 per cent of investment income. Lynch flatly rejected this, however, and gave the insurance executives until today (November 1) to make up their minds on his two-way proposal.

Administration Awaits Outcome of Dulles-Lehman Battle as Indication of Gains

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 1—Just a year having elapsed since the Truman-Dewey election, the administration is awaiting eagerly the outcome of the Dulles-Lehman contest in New York in the belief that it will show that the Democrats have made considerable headway in the last 12 months.

Inasmuch as the Republicans carried New York state in the presidential election of 1948, a Democratic majority in a statewide election for the United States Senate will be regarded as having national rather than local significance.

The President at first was disinclined to participate in any speech-making but now he has consented to make a broadcast from here on Saturday night. Members of the cabinet have gone to New York state to speak, primarily to help line up the organization and federal beneficiaries in the state.

If former Governor Lehman wins, the administration is prepared to claim that the people of New York state have endorsed the "welfare state" idea, that they favor a heavy federal spending program, a repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and a return to the Wagner Relations Act.

The argument will be made in the event of a Lehman victory that President Truman's whole program has been endorsed and that his popularity has increased considerably since a year ago when Governor Dewey carried the state.

The impression here is that, while the Dulles-Lehman campaign has introduced a number of extraneous issues, basically it is a fight between the Democratic and Republican parties. No one will be able to surmise that the Republican nominee didn't make an aggressive campaign or that Republicans were kept from voting by overconfidence. For the Republicans know they have an uphill fight and will endeavor this year to get their people to the polls.

On the other hand, Senator Dulles should win, it is quite likely the administration would claim that it wasn't a test of party strength at all but merely an indication of the greater emphasis placed by the voters on the Dulles achievements in the field of foreign policy.

Thus, the administration is prepared to take credit for the turn of events irrespective of the outcome, though it must be said there is an absolute confidence in and around the federal establishment that the former governor will win.

This is based largely on the fact that the non-Republican vote—that is, the Truman plus Wallace vote—in 1948 exceeded the Dewey vote. Also it is reasoned that since a year ago the Democrats have had an opportunity to control large benefits on veterans and other groups and that the year 1949 has not been as bad from an unemployment standpoint in New York state as it has been in some other parts of the country.

There is one possible offset, which may or may not have occurred in the campaign. The administration faces in the January session of Congress a resumption of the battle for federal funds for education. The Bardeen bill was sidetracked in the House when the controversy between Cardinal Spellman and Mrs. Roosevelt arose. Many legislators here will look at the New York result to see how much attention the voters paid to the platform of Senator Dulles, who unequivocally favors the idea of keeping education entirely as a state function.

If former Governor Lehman wins, some members of Congress here will say that the influence of the Catholic Church in the education controversy has been exaggerated and they will press for the Bardeen bill. A victory for Dulles, on the other hand, is bound to mean the elimination of such proposals as are contained in the Bardeen bill and the passage of a measure which gives the parochial schools any benefits that are given to public schools, especially in the matter of health and transportation and non-religious textbooks.

While the federal-aid-to-education issue is not apparently contained in the surface in the campaign, much will be heard about it after the election no matter which way it goes.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 31—I submit to you that the suit of Paul Draper and Larry Adler, the one a dancer and the other a mouthy organ virtuoso, against Mrs. John T. McCullough, of Personage Road, Greenwich, Conn., presents a threat against freedom of expression which should be every citizen's business. As a member of one of those similar community "cultural" clubs which import speakers and entertainers for the long winter evenings, Mrs. McCullough objected to the engagement of Draper and Adler by that society and the payment of any of her money to them. She based her objection on published reports of the un-American Activities Committee of Congress which stated that these two had been members of or associated with Communist fronts. The next thing she knew, Draper and Adler had slugged her with a suit for damages and, under a vicious Connecticut law, attached the McCulloughs' home and their bank account. This was worth $2,000 and mostly committed to outstanding checks, including a check for taxes. All of these were dishonored by the bank, because of the attachment.

Draper and Adler demand $100,000 each. Although Greenwich is a very high suburban reputation, the McCulloughs are not well-to-do and have no wealthy family backing. There are two mortgages on their home and their practice has been to amortize, save and live toward the future. He is presently editor of Time magazine, having graduated from the job of newspaper cameraman. It is a good enough job for a man of 31 but it doesn't make him a fat cat. Mrs. McCullough was a secretary when they met. They have a boy eight years old.

The Connecticut law which permits a plaintiff to attach the property of the defendant to the full amount of his demand on the mere filing of a suit was unknown to most Connecticut residents until this case gave it loud publicity. In most other states the plaintiff must win judgment first. The McCulloughs can't enforce their bank account and if a buyer should turn up for their house, which has been on the market for some time, they couldn't take advantage of the opportunity because it is legally committed to "cultural" clubs which import speakers and entertainers for the long winter evenings. ## Christmas Seals Arrive in City

The 1949 Christmas Seals, featuring a modernist drawing of a dove in flight, have arrived at the headquarters of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, 74 John street, in Kingston, according to Edmund P. Rochford, county Seal Sale chairman.

This year's seal was designed by 27-year-old Herbert M. Meyers of Leonia, N. J., whose original drawing won first prize in a nationwide contest conducted by the Society of Illustrators, a national organization of outstanding artists, illustrators, and art directors, with headquarters in New York city, Mr. Rochford added.

With the approval and cooperation of the National Tuberculosis Association, the Society sponsored the contest among students of accredited art schools all over the country. The selection of Mr. Meyers' design by a jury of Society officials and American artists was corroborated by the National Association's Christmas Seal Sale Advisory Committee, which customarily makes the final choice of the Seal Sale design each year.

The 1949 Seal Sale, proceeds of which will be used to finance the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association's program for the coming year, opens on Nov. 21 and will continue until Christmas. The quota for Ulster county has been set at $42,000, the minimum needed for the association's 1950 projects of tuberculosis prevention and control.

As in former years, the seals were supplied by the National Tuberculosis Association, with which the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association and 3,000 other voluntary tuberculosis associations are affiliated.

Christmas Seals are sent annually by the N.T.A. to associations in the 48 states and three United States territories—Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico—where the Christmas Seal Sale is also conducted.

Compromise Farm Bill Is Signed

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP)—The compromise farm bill of the 81st Congress became the law of the land today for at least one production season.

President Truman put his signature on the measure late yesterday. He thereby tossed the so-called Aiken law of the Republicans' 80th Congress into the wastebasket before it had a chance to go into effect.

But the new measure—which permits continuation of farm price support at or near wartime levels—was not necessarily assured of a long life span.

The surprise of some political and farm circles, the president made no statement in connection with the signing.

Persons in these quarters had expected him to use the occasion to say in effect that the new law is better than the GOP measure, but that he still wanted the so-called Brennan plan.

Those close to Secretary of Agriculture, Brannan, said they felt sure Mr. Truman is as much in favor of the Brannan proposal as ever. The president has given it warm endorsement on several occasions.

The new law is not too far from price support recommendations of the Brannan proposal. It would permit price supports more nearly in line with the Brannan proposal than would the Aiken law.

The big point of difference is the way the various measures would handle surpluses of perishable products, chiefly meats, dairy and poultry products, fruits and vegetables.

Only Four Know Place

Milan, Italy, Nov. 1 (AP)—A Catholic priest said today that only four persons in Italy know where Benito Mussolini is buried, and they are sworn to secrecy. The priest, Enrico Zucchi, said the others knowing the location of the grave are another priest and two police officials. He added that none of the members of the Fascist dictator's family know the location of the grave. A published report that Mussolini had been secretly buried in a Roman cemetery was denied by the government. Mussolini, executed by partisans in 1945, was first buried in Milan's Potter's Field. A year later the remains were stolen and recovered. It was at this time that the secret burial occurred.

Winter Movies Are To Start Tonight in Downtown Center

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced last night at the annual Recreation Halloween party that the movie program inaugurated this summer in the city parks will be continued throughout the winter with movies being shown at least once a week at the Kingston Recreation Center, 97 Broadway, for the youth and adults of the city.

Tentative plans call for a movie once a week on Tuesday evenings, with additional pictures being scheduled during the holiday period.

Starting this evening at 8:45 p. m. this plan will go into effect with the showing of the movie "Dark Mirror" starring Olivia De Havilland, Lew Ayres and Thomas Mitchell. It has been the practice to procure superior pictures and this standard will be followed throughout the winter months.

Berzak Warns Of Penicillin Use On Athletes' Foot

Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP)—A dermatologist says it is not a good idea to use penicillin and related drugs in the treatment of athlete's foot.

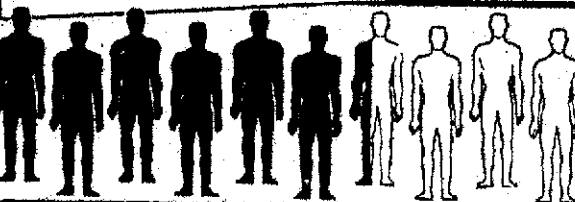

Dr. Samuel Berzak of Brooklyn, an associate professor of dermatology at Long Island University, warned yesterday that use of penicillin to treat the ringworm infection known as athlete's foot might cause allergies that would prevent use of the drug in more serious diseases.

Dr. Berzak addressed the New York State Podiatry Society at the final session of a two-day meeting. He said that "injections of penicillin and related drugs can induce severe skin eruptions when administered to persons with ringworm infections, ruling out further use of the drug in such illnesses as pneumonia, nephritis, osteomyelitis and urinary infections."

ARTHRITIS pains

61% of sufferers reported relief after the first application

Working with a group of patients, physicians found that a single application of new Sloan's Balm relieved painful symptoms in the following amazing percentage of cases: Arthritis (rheumatic) 61%, bursitis 53%, muscular aches 60%, neuritic pains 67%, sprains 100%, backaches 51%... average of foregoing cases 63%.

Sloan's Balm is different from anything else. It induces "intra-muscular warmth" deep down in the tissues, evidence of an increased flow of blood, which hastens removal of waste matter and helps nourish tissues. This effect lasts for hours and extends at least an inch below the surface—in most cases down to the region where the pain is. In scientific tests, Sloan's Balm proved itself up to 2 1/2 times as effective as other remedies tested, in creating comforting warmth in tissues. No wonder it brings new relief. So, whatever else you take for rheumatic pains or muscular aches, also use Sloan's Balm—to increase circulation of health-giving blood in the painful area. Pleasantly scented.

India May Curb Strike

Lucknow, India (AP) — They're making things tougher for would-be hunger-strikers in the United Provinces. The provincial Congress Party Council has announced that party members may not strike on "frivolous" issues without getting the council's okay first. The council took the action after reviewing ten cases of hunger-strike by congress-men in the past year. Two of the strikers were protesting against alleged corruption in the Congress party. The hunger-strike has been a weapon in India for generations and its popularity has not faded with Mahatma Gandhi's death. Usually, the hunger striker announces that he is about to undertake a "fast unto death" in protest against an unhappy state of affairs. No one has starved to death in recent years, however, a government official usually "intervenes" about the time the striker has worked up a strong appetite and convinces him that things will be set right.

Mike, who began walking at 10 months, skates around the house with his sister, Michelle, who is four and a half. He also tap dances with her.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—Marshall Plan Chief Hoffman tells Europe today to get down to work. It gets tough with the countries Uncle Sam is aiding on the same day that nearly 2,000 businessmen gather here for their annual talk-fest about foreign trade.

The world isn't producing and distributing as much as it should, many of them contend, in view of the motions it goes through. Low productivity is the rub as they see it—and all the fences and boobytraps along the world's trade lanes.

Hoffman tells Europe to lower these fences, or maybe Uncle Sam will lower the amount of its aid. Whether Europe will or not is one of the unanswered questions in the field of world business to be debated at the 36th National Foreign Trade convention, opening here today. Let's look at a few of the others, all more or less up in the air.

The final effect of devaluation, on the world's price, supply and trading system.

How many more markets American businessmen will lose because other nations bar or restrict American goods.

Whether the British and other Europeans can raise production rates high enough to pour more goods into the American home market. And whether the British plan a trade war with us in world markets.

Whether President Truman's point four plan for developing backward areas will work, and if so, when. And whether these nations really want American private capital enough to give it a square deal.

Gathered at the convention are manufacturers who sell part of their products abroad or have plants overseas; firms in the export and import trade; banks and insurance companies; ocean, rail and air carriers; communication companies and agricultural interests.

The general topic is "world economic well-being through increased production and trade"—which isn't as academic as you might think. Productivity is becoming the key problem in many lands, including our own. It means working harder, but more importantly, it means getting more produced for the amount of work you do.

Sir Stafford Cripps has laid it on the line to the British. The Chancellor of the exchequer tells them: "Unless we can quickly produce more and get our costs down, we shall suffer a tragic fall in our standard of living." He tells them to work harder and to expect less in social benefit handouts from their government. And he reminds them that they already owe the United States $4½ billion, for help in the last four years.

Even the world's wealthiest, most productive nation can do better, President Truman suggests, that the national income of the United States can be raised from the present $200 billion a year to $300 billion.

The Guaranty Trust Co. agrees in its October survey. "A very moderate rate of increase in productivity would be sufficient to bring this about," the bank's economists say.

he amount of goods turned out by Americans for each hour of work has been gaining at around 2 per cent a year since 1929. If that rate continues, we can hit the $300 billion mark by 1958. But the bank says if the annual rate of gain in output per capita can be raised to 3 per cent, which it calls "a reasonable figure," we can be a $300 billion a year nation well before 1958.

But this doesn't settle the other question: Where are we going to peddle all these goods we produce? At the foreign trade convention they're tackling that.

They want the trade barriers others raise against our goods to be lowered. In return American business men offer to try to increase our purchase of foreign goods.

Foreign traders say the best way to bring that about is to offer other lands to get prices down, by learning to produce cheaper, getting more done in an hour of effort, and by getting their currencies on a sound basis again.

Hoffman's demand that European nations lower their trade walls and end complicated money controls become one great trading area, like the 48 states over here, would mean a long step forward toward solving the world's trade problems, many of those at the convention agree.

Red Shadow Over Asia

By STANLEY RICH

Hong Kong, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Chinese Civil War has turned Hong Kong into a boom city.

Although this British colony on the edge of China stands the risk of losing heavily in the long run, it is now in the odd position of probably being the only area in the Orient that is reaping huge profits from the continued Communist successes.

Hong Kong's population, normally about 1,000,000, has roughly doubled. British military strength has been increased from 8,000 to more than 40,000 men. Wealthy refugees from China are still pouring in.

As a consequence, Hong Kong businessmen are cashing in on a furious spending spree. Building owners are getting more than $7,000 U. S. in "key money" for the privilege of renting three-room apartments.

This is on top of $135 U. S. monthly rentals—gas and electricity extra.

The Far Eastern Economic Review, the weekly bible of the local business community, estimates that British troops alone are spending the equivalent of $1,000,000 U. S. a month for entertainment and purchases.

Perhaps best indicative of Hong Kong's mood and mood is the fact that an American-financed combine is planning to open a lavish amusement resort, the first in the 100-year history of this colony.

True, Hong Kong is in a state of undeclared emergency, and armed Communists have reached the borders of the mainland territories; but the average resident and the large numbers of transients show no concern. The boom rolls on.

There is one hitch, however: Hong Kong cannot survive as one of Britain's prime money earners without continuing trade with China.

In 1948 the China trade accounted for 50 per cent of the colony's business. The Nationalist blockade of the Communist coast has hampered this trade, but not dangerously.

"Big business" has been calmly biding its time, expecting that lucrative China trade would be resumed after the Red capture of Canton. With the Communists now in Canton, however, the general feeling lately has changed from optimism to pessimism. Hong Kong's traders are beginning to ask themselves disturbing questions about the future.

The consensus among the colony's higher business circles is this:

1. The Communists are not likely to launch any military attack on Hong Kong but it is "almost inevitable" that they eventually will try for indirect control by labor agitation and by bureaucratic impediments in the form of import and export licenses and travel visas.

2. The Hong Kong government will make every effort to obtain local working arrangements with the Communists regardless of what the foreign office in London does about diplomatic recognition.

On these two points there seems to be almost unanimous agreement. But traders are deeply concerned about some other items. They ask themselves how much truth there is to recent reports from Shanghai that the Communists are "violently anti-foreign" and refuse to do business except on their own strictly terms. This could endanger Hong Kong's historic role as "middle-man" for the Far East.

The business men also wonder if the long-range prospects really depend on Moscow. If true, they fear that a year or two of surface cordiality might end in a crackdown on foreign investments in China.

Meanwhile, Hong Kong is booming.

The Lake Katrine Homemaking Club was organized Saturday when the following officers were elected: Sandra Ashdown, president; Shirley Boice, secretary; Helen Stevenson, vice-president; Sally Ann Fredericks, treasurer; Nancy Boice, song and cheerleader; and Sherry Pearson, news reporter.

Eight new members joined the club. They are Carol Haynes, Peggy Still, Jeanine Pfeiffer, Roberta Stevenson, Margaret Holwick, Greta Wolf, Donna Pearson and Sherry Pearson.

Will Invest New Eddyville Scouts

Ulster-Greene Council's newest Boy Scout troop will be officially invested at the Eddyville school on Thursday, November 3, it was announced today by Myron Keefe, scout executive.

The troop, to be known as Troop 4, is sponsored by the Eddyville School District trustees and is the 13th troop now active in the Kingston district.

Boy Scouts of Troop 2 of Connelly will be present Thursday evening to administer the Scout Oath and Laws in a special candlelight ceremony. Ole Christensen, neighborhood commissioner, will present the troop with its charter and will distribute certificates to the scouts and scouters.

The new troop has been in the process of organization for the past month. Robert J. Joseph has been named scoutmaster and Charles Doran, Jr., his assistant. Boys in the troop are Larry Zell, leader, and John Bandes, Robert Edge and Lloyd Lillard in the Wolf Patrol; Eugene Helmick, leader, and George Dahl and Otto Gromoll in the Hawk Patrol.

The new scouts have already participated in two outdoor events. On October 15 they went to the Kingston reservoir for a Camporall, where they pitched their tents, stayed overnight and cooked their own breakfast. Although it was a "miserable, rainy and cold day," the scoutmaster reported the new boys, many of them cooking their own meals outdoors for the first time, enjoyed themselves and did a creditable job as campers. Two weeks previously the prospective scouts hiked to Creek Locks.

Written for NEA Service

This is the second of a series of articles I have taken from Fred L. Karpin's new book, "Point-Count System of Bidding in Contract Bridge."

This set of articles deals entirely with the ace and king showing responses to an opening bid of two in a suit. I outlined the seven different responses in Monday's article.

Whenever you hold two kings and your partner has opened the auction with a two-bid in a suit, immediately jump to three no trump. Opener will then know exactly what you have (not just a "trick plus" or "two tricks"), and he can easily determine where the hand shall play. On the above hand, when the three no trump response was made, opener knew that his only loser would be the ace of spades. He promptly contracted for a small slam in no trump. (Responder's bid of three no trump denied the ace of spades. Had he held this card his first duty would have been to show the ace.)

When you hold three kings opposite partner's opening two-bid, jump to three no trump, then bid four no trump on your rebid.

Planes Find Ruins in Italy
Foggia, Italy (AP)—War experiences have in a young British professor's important archaeological discoveries in southeastern Italy. Prof. John Bradford, 31, of Oxford University (Pitt Rivers Museum) was a Royal Air Force pilot during World War 2. In his flights over the Gargano plateau, he noticed traces of neolithic ruins hitherto unmentioned in archaeological textbooks. He came back a few days ago. So far Bradford has discovered the medieval village of Salpi. It is of interesting historic value and its full plan is clearly outlined from the aerial photographs. Another unknown village was discovered by the party near Torione del Casone, on the highway Pescara Lecce.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

A very interesting menu arrived by mail from E. W. who told me before about a restaurant in a boat he visited at Nantucket Island in Massachusetts on his vacation. "When looking through the souvenir menu I found that 'The Skipper' boat restaurant was built right in my old Rondout, N. Y.," he told me.

Here is quoting in part from the menu "The Skipper," steamboat wharf, Nantucket Island, Mass. "The old vessel most generally referred to as 'The Skipper' was built at Rondout, N. Y., in 1867. Her official papers designate her as a two-masted schooner, 93 feet long, 27 feet in breadth, and 8½ feet in depth, with a net tonnage of 181 tons."

Captain William Gurney built her, naming her for his son Allen. She remained in the Gurney family, captained by them, generation after generation, until 1913, when Josiah Huntley, of Calais, Me., bought her. During all these years she was used as a general cargo carrier sailing up and down the Atlantic coast from Maine to Virginia, but never crossing the ocean. She had the usual run of adventure. At one time, during a stormy voyage, she was struck by a wave and "hogged." Again, while lying in New Haven harbor, she was rammed by a steamer and sunk, and at still another time she was slightly damaged by a fire at sea.

In the winter of 1920-21 she brought a load of coal to the Island Service Co. of Nantucket. She had developed some bad leaks and her owners decided not to risk another voyage, so she remained tied up at the Island Service wharf until the Skipper bought her in February, 1921.

She sailed into her present position upon a high winter tide a few days later, and settled down to a form of service unusual for a boat, but perhaps of no less value than her long years at sea.

"The management further explains this strange sea-restaurant with 'no alcoholic beverages permitted . . . no tips.' Also 'landlubbers' questions answered. 'No, she is not an old whaler.' 'No, she is not afloat.' 'No, the kitchen is not 'down stairs.' 'How much did you pay for her?' 'According to old salts, twice as much as she is worth.' 'No, you don't have to buy tickets to go aboard.' 'Yes, The Skipper is run by a woman.' 'Yes, we do mean it when we say 'No tips.'"

"They have the 'No tips! The Skipper's prices include all service charges,' on every side of the menu, so no doubt they mean it. They serve afternoon tea menus from 3 to 6 p. m., ranging from 30 cents to 50 cents. For instance, a 50 cent combination, they have a choice of hot or ice tea or coffee, plate of assorted sandwiches and plate of cinnamon toast, also small ice cream and cake.

They also go as high as $2.15 in their shore dinner de luxe where their main course is lobster in various styles and starts from soup to drinks and desserts. I notice they even serve hot postum and food or hot Sanka. I wonder if they ever have Rondout Creek Shad?

I could suggest some items like Ulster county apple pie, turnovers or fritters. I remember Mrs. Harry Howard who lived at 48 Broadway, and whose husband was the well known barber at Ferry and Broadway, across from the Freeman office. Mrs. Howard could turn out the most delicious apple-fritters. That used to be a common dish and today I see it no where and here with apples over-flowing from every fruit stand.

As Pegler Sees It

McCalloughs, sent $1,000 and a rich Philadelphia family, who had known her when she was a young working girl, also sent $1,000. To the thousands of citizens who, annually write me of their desire to do something, I earnestly recommend a donation of one dollar to Mrs. John T. McCullough, Parsonage Rd., Greenwich, Conn.

The McCulloughs new bank in New York state where his earnings and the defense fund are safe. Other residents of Connecticut are becoming conscious of the unsuspicious risk of banking in Connecticut, or owning property there.

It is a pernicious fact that Communists and fellow-travelers enjoy a special immunity from discussion of their political beliefs and activities by others.

Dismissing Draper and Adler from consideration for the moment, let us assume an imaginary notorious Communist traitor who has marched in every parade and joined every front for years. We assume further, however, that he is a secret or undercover member of the party or even that the party orders him not to take out formal membership so that membership cannot be proved. You may call a fellow citizen a Democrat or a Republican with impunity and Felix Frankfurter once wrote an opinion holding that it was just fair to give and take for union pickets to call a loyal American a Fascist on placards intended to drive business from a cafe, although Mussolini was then alive and Fascism was militantly anti-American.

So you see what an advantage this concept gives to Communists and fellow travelers. Even provocateurs enjoy this protection. The packed Supreme Court, in the Harry Bridges case, held that a Communist was not a Communist unless he admitted that he was or it could be proved on him out of secret records of an oath-bound alien conspiracy. Bridges admitted he had collaborated with the Communists. But inasmuch as the violent overthrow of our government was still in the future, it could not be shown that he intended to collaborate to that extent.

Therefore, five years of work by great detectives and lawyers and patriotic societies was nullified and Bridges walked away to blockade Hawaii and threaten to blockade Alaska. You must not call Bridges a Communist even today.

It is really a serious matter that men who provoke comment on their words and purposes have the power to put American firms of unquestionable patriotism to expense and peril for fair comment on their manifestations. I have never yet retracted a word of such fair comment.

It is far more dangerous to free expression than two loyal young citizens, dependent on their wages for earnings should be exposed to the calumny that threatens the McCulloughs.

FELT
JAMES H. WINTERS

Few people realize just how much felt really goes into the making of a piano. The main reason we bring this up is to warn you how much damage moth can do if left unchecked. If a moth condition can be checked in the very early stages, no damage is done and the demotion job is comparatively inexpensive. However when you realize that every moving part in a piano action uses felt as a bushing to say nothing of the felt hammers, dampers, backchecks, key bed felt, spring rail felt, hammer rail felt, butt felts, etc., etc., you begin to understand the terrible amount of damage moth can cause if left unchecked. Regular examinations by your tuner will eliminate any possibility of extensive damage to your piano. Many people are surprised to find that there is moth in their piano but nowhere else in the house. Well—you are able to clean your house thoroughly, but hardly the inside of your piano. Proper preventive measures and periodic tunings and examinations will eliminate this danger. Be very careful of using sprays yourself inside your piano. Some sprays are definitely not safe for this kind of use.

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—Sen. John Foster Dulles told a veterans' group today he believes "there is less risk of war with Russia now than there was a year or two ago." ## Hopes Are Held For Quick End to Coal, Steel Strikes

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP)—A well-fare plan agreement that sends 80,000 striking C.I.O. steel workers back to their jobs with Bethlehem Steel Corp., today buoyed government hopes for a quick end to both the steel and coal strikes.

Officials said they expect other steel firms will follow in the footsteps of Bethlehem, the nation's second largest steel producer, which signed an agreement last night to end the strike so far as this company was concerned.

The government officials said that now that a break has come in the steel strike, definite peace moves may be expected in connection with the coal strike.

The two basic industries. Bethlehem signed up in Cleveland last night with Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O. and the striking steelworkers. "We broke the line," Murray exclaimed. "From here on we move with a firmness of purpose and a determination that victory will attend our efforts."

The precedent-making contract gives Bethlehem workers employer-paid pensions starting at $100 a month including the benefits they get from the government's social security system. It also calls for a death, sickness, accident and hospital cost insurance plan worth five cents an hour per worker, with employer and worker equally sharing costs.

Bethlehem has maintained a company-financed $50-a-month pension plan for some years, as well as a wholly worker-financed insurance system costing employees about 1 1/2 cents an hour.

The settlement came on the steel strike's 31st day and the coal walkout's 43rd. Murray and Bethlehem officials worked out final details and signed the agreement at a three-hour conference between sessions of Murray's C.I.O. convention at Cleveland.

The reaction was swift. Government Mediation Chief Cyrus S. Chun said he trusted "this settlement will lead to industrial peace in the steel industry generally, at a very early date."

Primo Carnera, Ex-Heavyweight Boxing Champ, Wrestles Here Tonight

Ambling Alp Set For Joust With Kruskamp

Professional wrestling's biggest night in local history unfolds tonight at the municipal auditorium with Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, and Ladislav Talun, 7-foot, 370-pound Polish giant in the featured roles.

Carnera, greatest boxoffice attraction in wrestling history, meets Hardy Kruskamp, 6 foot 6, 250-pound California villain in the feature bout to a finish.

The card starts at 8:30 p. m. Talun, new Polish terror and one of the strongest men alive, squares off in a 30-minute duel with Monsieur Paris, French strong man.

Other bouts: Chick Garibaldi, Long Island vs. Wally Bern, Australia, 30-minute limit.

George Bruckman, Washington vs. Steve Karas, Detroit, 30-minute limit.

Had Fabulous Career Promoter Bill Johnston reports that Carnera is undefeated since he turned to wrestling.

The Ambling Alp stands 6 feet 5 inches and weighs 280 pounds.

Primo celebrated his 43rd birthday on October 28. He had first professional fight on Sept. 12, 1928, in Paris, knocking out Leon Sebilo in two rounds. He campaigned in Europe during 1929 and came to New York in 1930. In his first fight here Carnera flattened Big Boy Peterson in one round.

Held Title in 1933

His career in the ring is well known to fight fans. Primo KO'd an assortment of boxers on a nationwide tour during 1930, 1931 and 1932. On June 23, 1933, Primo knocked out Jack Sharkey in New York to take the world's title. He lost it to Max Baer on June 14, 1934. Joe Louis virtually ended Primo's ring career by stopping him in six rounds on June 25, 1935. Carnera turned to the grunt and green profession after the war and quickly became a headliner. Now he's recognized as one of the top men in the mat kingdom.

Notre Dame Gets 83 Percent First Place Votes in AP Football Poll

Major Hoople Picks Poughkeepsie By Two TDs Over Maroon Saturday

By MAJOR AMOS HOOPLE

Upset Expert

Egad, gentle readers! Thus far I haven't delved into the intricate machinery set up by each coach to thwart and outwit adversaries in the DUSO League and in the Hudson valley area.

It's a lot of balderdash if you ask me—har-rumph!

But this Poughkeepsie-Kingston game coming up Saturday finds me with head bowed. My banner is trailing in the dust! No morale is at all tide—har-rumph!

The occasion for my lamentation, gentle readers, is the fact that I must pick Poughkeepsie against my good friend, Bill Burke, by at least two touchdowns, 13 to 0, egad.

Originally I had this game forecast to end 14 to 0 in favor of Kingston. Then I went into a local bistrot and heard a fellow bragging that he had eaten 13 oysters in a Poughkeepsie dive. That did it! I had the real live hunch, 13 oysters, 13 points for Poughkeepsie.

The Irish System

While a great many coaches rush about with diagrams in every pocket, let me point to Notre Dame as something refreshingly different.

Coneh Leahy declares Notre Dame excels only in spirit. They just give somebody the ball and a bunch of spirits rush around the field smacking down everybody wearing a strange uniform.

After Notre Dame executes a back through tackle, a great many bodies lie strewn about the field, felled by those Notre Dame spirits.

It's the best system of all. Do not leave anybody standing around to tackle your ball carrier.

Now to the forecast of games to be played November 5.

Army and Oklahoma In Runner Spots

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—Notre Dame continues to roll up the score in the Associated Press football poll with 83 per cent of the first place votes in the fifth weekly ratings.

New faces come and go in the top 10 but nobody is close to the Fighting Irish who were ranked first by 133 of the 161 sports writers and sportscasters participating.

Army is second, Oklahoma third and California fourth, just like last week. The "Big Four" cornered all but three of the first place ballots. Oklahoma drew 11, Army 10 and California three. The others went to 10th-place Michigan State (2) and seventh-place Cornell (1).

Minnesota and Pennsylvania raced out of the top 10 after their respective defeats by Purdue and Pittsburgh. Southern Methodist and Michigan State took their places.

On a point basis, with 10 for first, 9 for second and so on, the Irish piled up 1,569 to outdistance the pack. The Cadets' second place margin was sliced but they still hold the edge over Oklahoma, 1,223 to 1,308. California has 1,070 points.

Michigan, the only other team except Notre Dame to lead the poll this season, gained support by topping Illinois, 13-0. As a result, the Wolverines advanced a peg from sixth to fifth place.

Baylor's unbeaten Bears jumped from tenth to sixth on the strength of a 40-14 ramble against Texas Christian. Cornell moved up one step to seventh on its 34-0 victory over Columbia but, surprisingly, fell from No. 5 to No. 8 despite a 29-0 win over Texas Tech.

Minnesota's 13-7 loss to Purdue dumped the Gophers among the also rans and Penn's 22-21 upset by Pitt dropped the previously unbeaten Quakers into a 20th place slouch with perfect record Fordham.

The total vote with points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes in parentheses):

1. Notre Dame (133) ..... 1569
2. Army (10) ..... 1323
3. Oklahoma (11) ..... 1308
4. California (4) ..... 1070
5. Michigan ..... 625
6. Baylor ..... 591
7. Cornell (1) ..... 481
8. Rice ..... 447
9. Southern Methodist ..... 269
10. Michigan State (2) ..... 240

The second ten—11. Ohio State, 218; 12. Southern California, 110; 13. Kentucky, 75; 14. Tennessee, 67; 15. Iowa, 54; 16. Duke, 48; 17. Louisiana State, 38; 18. Boston University, 36; 19. Virginia, 34; 20. Pennsylvania and Fordham, each 28.

Others receiving more than one vote: Santa Clara 27, Tulane 26, Pittsburgh 23, Texas, 17, Minnesota 15, College of Pacific 13, Purdue 12, North Carolina 11, Wyoming 9, Missouri 7, Wake Forest and Maryland each 6, Dartmouth 5, Vanderbilt and Villanova each 4, U.C.L.A. and Wisconsin each 3, Alabama 2.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

• Bagatelles:

If you need further proof that bowling is America's No. 1 participant sport, consider the Wall Street Journal's estimate that approximately 18 million Americans spent about $210,000,000 in bowling fees. In addition nearly $28,000,000 went to equipment makers for new alley balls, pins and other paraphernalia.

If the amount spent by patrons in bars, grills and concessions located in bowling establishments were included, business attributable to the sport probably went well over the $500,000,000 mark during the 1948-49 season.

• What Bowlers Are Talking About:

The tremendous accomplishments of Marguerite Logan and her committee in netting $2,034 for the K.W.B.A.'s state tournament fund via the recent promotion. The committee extends sincere thanks to the merchants and bowlers who made the promotion a huge success. Jake Chichelsky's classic description of Edna Barton, the television star, who appeared at the Bowlorium Saturday night, said Jake, without a trace of journalistic inhibition: "Edna Barton is a gorgeous looking blonde who displayed wonderful form approaching the foul line . . . but lacked the accuracy to hit any high scores. . . ." Rose Rhymer's terrific salesmanship for K.W.B.A.'s fund raising campaign. The sensational scoring by "Doc" Spaulding and Gil Simpson on the Bowlorium drive. . . . The tippling match game held between Angie Ferraro, the "Flux" shurper and Joe "Fodder" Cashman, the "cold one." It's as inevitable as your next income tax installment. Ferraro is one of the early season sensations, with a new hook ball.

• Jake Chichelsky's Chatter:

Among the young stars who flash big time potentials are Jim Moss, Chris Gallo, Joe McGraw, Bill Schabot, George Shufeldt, Bill Kuhar, and Velma Allen. We haven't seen all the new rookie acts in action yet but will report later. Can anyone tell us why Floyd "Flash" Barnum, the former Long Island terror, quit the Bowldrome Classic with a 150 average? Some of the sharpers are wondering why he comes around to watch the Classic League after he quit it. The City Minor has a two way tie between Hutton Brick and Mauro's Grill "Army." Huppel informs us he hopes to have the American Bowling and Billiard team at the Bowlorium this season.

• When Somebody Gets Shortchanged:

Failure of bowling leagues and establishments to accept a joint responsibility in reporting scores is reflected in an unhappy incident in which Leo Schwartzstein of the Terry Brick Co. was shortchanged of some much deserved publicity. Mr. Schwartzstein is a 150-shurper and Joe "Fodder" Cashman, the "cold one" recently pointed out a sensational 277 which is big news in the Major or Booster League. After modest counts of 164 and 158, Schwartzstein started with a spare, a seven-pin fall, and then a string of ten straight strikes. We did not receive any report of the match until several days after the score was rolled. Which points up a policy that we expect strict adherence to in the future. The league and the alley are held jointly responsible for the reporting of scores and by 9 a. m. the day after the match. Bowlers who think we are kidding in view of repeated warnings in the past have a shock coming to them.

Here is a scoring table that will come in handy for scorekeepers and captains who like to keep track of "marks" in a game so that a team knows just how they stand in each frame. The problem arises when there is a bowler missing and you are using a handicap and pinfall or other. Discounting the handicap, this table will work when you are using the missing bowler's average. For 184 and over, credit other team with 10 marks and then as follows: 174 to 183, 9 marks; 164 to 173, 8 marks; 154 to 163, 7 marks; 144 to 153, six marks; 134 to 143, five marks; 124 to 133, four marks; 114 to 123, three marks; 104 to 113, two marks; 94 to 103, one mark.

Bowling of treasurers is a simple but important part of bowling league business. Every sanctioned league may bond its treasurer without charge, by merely submitting the proper application to ABC's general offices in Milwaukee. Bonds are issued as one of the many services of the Congress to cover the amount of league funds up to $100 per team. Check on your league and see that it is bonded.

FAMOUS BOWLING ALIBIS—They had the alleys fixed up.

Unknowns Star In North-South

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 1 (AP)—Storm signals were up today as the 47th North and South Open Golf tournament got under way.

The so-called lesser lights had their day yesterday as the qualifying round was played off. From what the players who didn't qualify for invitation to the tournament proper showed, the big names had better be on their game.

When the final score of the 118 qualifiers had been posted, the name of Tommy Wright, a lanky veteran pro from Kingsport, Tenn., led the list with a snappy 87, five under par for the No. 2 championship country club course, a 6,952-yard ship.

In all, 13 players bettered par 72 and five others equalled regular figures. Highest score to 100.

Dawson-Williams Title Bout set

Philadelphia, Nov. 1 (AP)—Freddie Dawson of Chicago who has failed to lick lightweight champion like Williams in three non-title efforts gets another opportunity Nov. 28 and this time the crown will be on the line.

Promoter Phil Glassman announced yesterday that Trenton Ike—undisputed boss of the 135 pounders since August 4, 1947—had signed to defend his title for the fifth time.

Montreal—Bernard Docusen, 147, New Orleans, outpointed Gaby (Tiger) Ferland, 147, Montreal (10).

Fordham Will Try to Out-Platoon Cadets in Major Battle at Point

New York, Nov. 1 (AP)—Fordham will try to "out-platoon" Army, the most successful platoon specialists in football, when the two unbeaten eastern teams collide Saturday at West Point.

Ed Danowski, who guides the destinies of the intriguing Rams, is not satisfied with just separate offensive and defensive units. He has a special kickoff unit, a special one to receive kickoffs and another combination when place kicking. That's five in all.

Such snagging is carried on with 30 regulars and an occasional dip into a storehouse of some 15 reserves.

Earl (Red) Blaik, who coaches Army, has indicated he will put some 35 men in uniform for the fray and give the customers a good show of platooning himself.

Ned Rigger Field

The game has caught officials in an embarrassing position. It was originally scheduled for New York but because of the Rams' poor record last year (3-6) it was shifted to West Point.

Now everybody's sorry. It would be a real gate-puller in New York where Fordham fans are envisioning a return to the heights the Rams achieved before the war. They were an eastern power year in and year out before de-emphasizing set in.

Now everybody's sorry. It would be a real gate-puller in New York where Fordham fans are envisioning a return to the heights the Rams achieved before the war. They were an eastern power year in and year out before de-emphasizing set in.

The Army coach said his scouts had called Fordham the most improved team they've clocked all year. Blaik said he expected his cadets to be in for their "toughest test."

Army scouts report Dick Doherty is a clever "T-formation" quarterback who rates with any in the east. They warn about Jim Maloney and Alan Pfeiffer, two slick Eds. And Stan Bloomer and Larry Higgins. Two hard-running backs.

"On defense, Fordham plays a rugged game," Blaik said. He added, however, that Army had more depth and more team speed.

Louis Prepping For Comeback?

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 1 (AP)—Harry Mendell of New York, exhibition tour agent for Joe Louis, thinks the retired heavyweight champion plans a comeback "or he's getting his dough the hard way."

Louis has denied he plans a return to active fighting. Mendell said today Louis canceled "two or three four-round exhibitions" in order to work out in the uptown gym at New York.

"When he boxed tours, he never went in the gym," Mendell said. "Now we've got five ten-rounders to do before Christmas. Why do tens when four will draw the same money?"

Mendell answered himself: "Tens are supposed to draw better crowds. It's a lot more work and Louis either has plans of his own or he's getting his dough the hard way. We let the promoter pick the opponent. For

Tavern Keglers Make 7-10 and "Pinacle"

The "double pinnacle" (4-6-7-10) and 7-10 split conversions, two of the rarest in the bowling game, were recorded in last night's session of the Tavern Association League at the Bowlorium alleys.

Fred Schuauer of Coney's restaurant made the "double pinnacle" in the sixth frame of his first game on alley 15 and joined a long list of local immortals in that field.

Ira Saxe of the Cypress Inn squad achieved the rare 7-10 in the second frame of the second game on alley 13. It was the third 7-10 conversion reported since the Bowlorium was opened.

instance, Louis never saw Billy Gilliam before last night when he boxed four rounds against him.

In his dressing room, Louis said he planned the workouts, which will include five miles of road work in the morning and four rounds of boxing in the afternoon, because "I like it—I want to get down to 214." Louis weighed 221.

Blaze Extinguished On Road Truck

Oil spilled on a truck of the Landell Co., Inc., caught fire this morning as it was being loaded for road construction work, and the blaze damaged a pumping unit on the rear of the vehicle.

Firemen were called at 7:38 a. m., and the fire was quenched with one line of hose and a fog nozzle.

The truck is the type used on road-construction work and is heated before it is loaded with oil. A gasoline line broke from the heat of the oil fire, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said, and Robert Humphries of Clinton avenue, the driver of the truck, prevented more serious damage by driving the vehicle away from the oil tank. A pipe from the tank to the truck was connected when the oil on the rear of the truck was ignited by the pre-heating torch.

Firemen were called at 8:57 a. m. today to the home of Howard St. John, 56 Lindenman avenue, where a hot water unit burst. Damage was confined to the furnace.

An overheated emergency brake caused a fire in a truck of the Colonial City Coal Co., operated by Frank Rockwell, Jr., 144 Cedar street, shortly after 2 p. m. yesterday.

The truck was near the Cornell fire station when the fire started in the brake and ignited fuel oil. Firemen used a garden hose to check the blaze.

Six Children Win Prizes at Halloween Party

Last night was one of the biggest of the year for local youngsters who turned out in all kinds of Halloween costumes for the city's annual parade and party. Adults who saw the parade and attended the program at the municipal auditorium, appeared to be having as much fun as the children, and among them was Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who is shown holding Brian Brant, one of the prize winners. The others, left to right are: Regina Buckman, Nicholas Morris, Walter Brant, Gail Ann Zachario and Penny Jenkins, and to their left are Hugo Wessler, who donated prizes and Thomas Bohan of the Forty and Eight, which assisted the youngsters in the parade and donated prizes. more it costs today for food, clothing, coal and everything else. Just compare today's cost of bread, butter, meat and eggs with prices before the war. We women often handle the family purse strings and know how prices have jumped.

We all know that. We all know too that you can't spend money for the necessities of living if you don't earn more money.

The same thing is true of our city government.

The city also has to pay out more for wages and materials and everything else than it used to. And the city can get the money to do this in only one way, and that is by collecting more taxes from you and me.

We voted to add to the income of the policemen and firemen. We felt that they were entitled to increases so that they could live like everyone else. Now you tell me, where could the money come from except through taxes from us? In order to pay these increases, taxes had to go up, didn't they?

Of course, other things caused taxes to go up too. Look at how much more the city had to pay the county this year for its share of the cost of county government. The tumor clinic building and all the expensive equipment in it had to be paid for by someone and that someone is us. We all rejoice that we now have one of the best cancer clinics in the world right here in Kingston. Many lives will be saved by early diagnosis of cancer and because of the deep X-ray therapy that will be immediately available. Who knows when this great disease will strike at one close and dear to us?

I know that we women all agree that the taxes to pay to get such a blessing at the tumor clinic would be cheap at twice the price. We women do not complain when we get something worth-while for our money. What we don't like is waste and extravagance. When we shop, we want to get our money's worth.

Mayor Newkirk has not been wasteful or extravagant. He has certainly given us our money's worth.

Not only that, but he is interested in anything that helps the city and is willing to work hard for it. He has done a fine job in providing additional playgrounds for our children. The Downtown Youth Center was in terrible shape when he took office, and all the improvements he has made is a miracle. I have read that Kingston stands second in all cities of the United States having the lowest juvenile delinquency rate. This is no wonder when we think of all the effort the city goes to in order to give ## our young people good, wholesome recreation.

I know too that the women bowlers appreciate how Mayor Newkirk went to Buffalo with them and tried to help them get the 1950 tournament and convention for Kingston. Not many mayors would have taken the trouble to do such a swell thing.

We women all like and admire a man with moral courage. That is one of the mayor's most striking attributes. We women may not always agree with him, but we know where he stands on important issues. He is a straightforward, courageous official who is willing to fight for what he believes in.

We women all know where Mayor Newkirk stood on housing. All of us women did not agree with him, but we know where he stands. But you can't tell where the Democrats stand. They tell us against housing, but downtown they tell people they are for it.

We women should want men in office who have the moral courage to take a stand on important issues.

As I said in the beginning, we women outnumber the men among the registered voters. We women have it in our power to keep a good mayor in office. So go to the polls on Election Day and vote for Mayor Newkirk.

employment is already serious. And he asserted it would "run into a cumulative catastrophe if they do not start to mine coal and produce steel within another week to ten days."

Dewey said 80,000 persons in New York state already were out of work because of the strikes. He said 10,000 of this number were railroad workers.

He noted that applications for unemployment insurance benefits totaled 453,000 in the week ended Oct. 21, an increase of 27,000 over the previous week.

Dewey said steel shortages had halted $17,000,000 worth of public works projects, idling 2,000 workers.

In addition to Tallamy, Dewey named to the emergency committee Benjamin F. Feinberg, public Service Commission chairman; Harold Keller, Commerce Commission; Dr. Norman E. Hill, Health Commissioner; and Dewey's counsel, Charles D. Breit.

American Business

City Bank of New York, said the dollar "is the anchor for world money." It is the responsibility of the government to keep it sound, he added, while stable money is reestablished over the world.

The New York banker said the country faces a great political conflict, along with many other countries, between the so-called welfare state and sound money. In a welfare state, he continued, the government almost always spends faster than production justifies.

The result, Burgess said, is an unbalanced budget, credit expansion, unsound wage and price policies and "in the long run a slowing down of production because people are trying to get something for nothing instead of working for it."

Sound money, Burgess said, is essential for world recovery and for world peace.

Dues Are Withheld By C.I.O. Faction

Cleveland, Nov. 1 (AP)—The United Electrical Workers, spearhead of the C.I.O.'s rebellious left wing, today announced it was withholding any further dues to the C.I.O.—a certain first step toward its ouster.

U.E. delegates walked off the convention floor shortly afterwards. Fitzgerald said they were going home. U.E. officers have not been attending the convention although delegates were there.

Homes Are Destroyed

Chatsworth, Calif., Nov. 1 (AP)—A forest fire, racing out of control, today destroyed 10 costly homes in Box Canyon near here and imperiled many more. A strong northwest wind fanned the flames through the night. Early today 35 families were evacuated from their homes in the north end of the canyon. Approximately 350 families live in the entire canyon. All were ordered to stand by for evacuation at a moment's notice. Several hundred firefighters, aided by bulldozers, are on the line. By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

CALLING FATHER-IN-LAW "MR."

A letter says: "I've been told that my father-in-law feels hurt because I continue to call him 'Mr. Jones.' But somehow he is a reserved person that I can't get 'Father' out beyond my breath. Isn't it proper to call him what seems to me natural? Well, to me his reserve makes me call him 'Mister.'"

I might ask you what you have done to show this reserve? How can you expect a man who is quite obviously shy to be anything but frozen when his son's wife "Misters" him like a stranger? If you call your own father "Dad," then couldn't you call your father-in-law "Father" or even "Dad-in-law"? If you could only "break the ice" so to speak, you might be surprised to discover how easy it is to know him better, and when knowing him, care more for him, too.

Tell Employer You're Leaving

Dear Mrs. Post: When I know I am going to have to leave my employer before too long, would it be all right to give him an invitation from his wife and him to spend the week-end with them at their country place? He has no idea that I feel it necessary to accept another job because there is a much higher salary and also more future in it. Knowing this, would it be all right for me to go?

Answer: Tell him frankly that it is necessary for you to leave your job soon and therefore you don't think it fair to accept his hospitality.

Again "Dr."

Dear Mrs. Post: How does the transition take place when a father dies and the son, who was John Lee, Jr., is no longer that? Is it after the estate is settled? But what steps are taken to establish the son and his wife under their new name?

Answer: The "Jr." is omitted as soon as his father dies. The only steps to be taken is to erase "Jr." from his name, wherever it is written or printed. This is automatic and unavoidable. If his mother is living then she must add "Sr." to her name.

There is no more pleasant way of entertaining than to serve afternoon tea. Mrs. Post gives all the details in her letter, E-27, "Afternoon Tea."

To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 10, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

All-Day Session To Be Held at Chapel

A group of special class teachers from elementary schools in all parts of Eastern New York will hold an all-day organizational meeting next Saturday at 9 a. m. in the chapel of the First Dutch Church. Through the medium of this session it is hoped that a strong association of educators who realize the need for more practical education for retarded children will be formed.

The adaptability of the new curriculum for retarded children and the need for public understanding of these children are two of the subjects to be discussed. Many other phases of this branch of the teaching profession will be brought up for round table discussion.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools, and Dr. Ruth M. Northway, director of elementary Education, will welcome the group. The guest speaker who will also act as consultant for the day will be Miss Dorothy Buehring of Hornell.

The ladies of the First Dutch Church will serve noon luncheon for the visitors.

STYLE FOR AUTUMN

Richly dressed dolls in a designer's globe-eluding tour supply these style cues for fall fashions.

From a Siamese dancing doll (left) this green wool gabardine dress picks up a swag of swaying pleats, a belt ornamented with buckle and "shiva," tiny Hindu symbol.

Japanese kimono (right) stages a comeback in pure silk brocade trimmed with gold insignia and sashed like the geisha girl doll (right above).

for a rich, colorful and inspired collection.

Results are fashions influenced by people, scenery, customs, priceless objects of art and native costumes seen in Italy, France, England, Ireland, India, China, Japan, Siam and other countries of the Far East.

The geisha girl's kimono, the Japanese woman's "mompri," and Japanese ceremonial robes inspired the at-home fashions which Miss Leser launches in sumptuous fabrics. One Japanese-styled kimono which stages its come-back in pure silk brocade is wrapped with an obi sash and is beset with circles of gold thread. Such decorative motifs come courtesy of handsome Japanese gift wrappings which Miss Leser brought back.

From Siam—in particular from the costumes of Siamese dancers—come ideas for swag drapery and side pleats in plump clusters and unusual details which Miss Leser uses to create distinctive coats and dresses.

Borrowed from the satin skirt of a Siamese dancer, for example, is a swag of pleats which is swung to the side of a skirt of a green wool gabardine dress. The belt of this otherwise simply styled one-piece fastens with a big copper buckle, and is ornamented with a copper "shiva," a little Hindu symbol which caught Miss Leser's fancy on her Far East travels.

Girl Scouts Hold Halloween Party

Woodstock, Nov. 1—Halloween is kids' night and the Woodstock Girl Scouts entertained at a costume party last night at the Woodstock Town Hall which brought out the ghosts and goblins, witches and fairy queens in moppet droves.

A fine panel of judges composed of Bill Tuck, famous photographer, Mrs. William McReady of Crafts Cooperative and Mrs. Morris Riscley cast their vote for the first three prizes, but later ran up against some stiff small fry opposition on other awards. Winners as selected by the judges were: First, Betty Lou Wilber who came as a witch; second, Gail Dordick as a Dutch girl; third, Bill Dordick a Chinese boy, all in the pre-school and kindergarten group.

In the first through fourth grade group prizes went to Lynn Herbert and Chevy Chase and in the fifth through eighth grade the winners were J. Allen Lee and B. J. Waters.

Special pumpkin head prizes were given to Andy Lee, Louella Lupo and Joanne Lee. Your correspondent's choice for honors went to Louella Lupo, a graceful little figure in an old-fashioned white ruffled dress, her curls topped by a black bonnet with red roses. Although they were just short of the prize group, Stewart DeWitt as the headless ghost won his share of applause along with Larry Elwyn.

Square dancing followed the costume judging to music supplied by Harold Holmizer's band from Zena. Members of the troop committee ably assisted the Scout leaders with the hall decorations and refreshments of cider and cookies.
